I remember Lagoon because my family goes there once every summer. I remember the rollercoaster. The white one and when it went speeding down the track you could feel the wind blowing in your hair and your face. And as your going down it feels like your going to fly out of your seat.

But anyway when you walk by the food stands you can smell the fresh baked stuff. The cotten candy taste good as it melts in your mouth and you feel the sugar on your tongue it taste really good any way have more work to do bye.
