

WHAT WE HAVE IN COMMON

Racially, ethnically, and culturally diverse groups share common traits. Because of this, people ought to be able to form CHAINS OF COMMONALITIES that link us together. Connect the chain links by writing words that relate to each category. Select one idea from each category for the two other chains. This will show how people respond similarly to various life experiences. The complete chain will depict how people are more alike than they are different. The last one, HAPPY, is started for you.
