

"NO-NAME" CASE STUDY

"NO-NAME" lives next door and likes to come over to our house. Yesterday he/she came over with muddy feet and yelled "Anybody home?" as he/she walked into our house. He/she went straight for the refrigerator, opened the door, took out a cold pop and opened it. Then "NO-NAME" went into the living room where my little brother was watching television, fell on the couch, and put his/her muddy feet on the coffee table. He/she watched television for a few minutes, but when my little brother wanted to change the channel, he/she told my brother to "get lost." He/she talked about himself/herself mostly but gossiped about the neighbors across the street. After he/she finished drinking his/her pop, he/she left the empty can on the couch and wandered through the house to see who was home and what they were doing. As "NO-NAME" left, he/she slammed the door and woke up the baby.
