Instructional Procedures

Split class into groups of 3-4 students and hand out a set of quotes to each group.
Explain that each group will need to read all the quotes and then come up with a list of words to describe the people saying these things. Tell each group to assign someone to come up and get a marker and a piece of chart paper.
Allow students to read through the quotes and get started. Wander the room and help as necessary.
After it seems that the groups are finishing up have the groups share their list with the whole class. Write words shared on the board.
Explain to the students that all the quotes are from revolutionaries, in other words people who have been involved in the various revolutions as an encourager of change.
Ask the students: Why would revolutionaries need these characteristics? How would these characteristics help them accomplish their goals? Allow this to turn into a discussion.

Extensions

Sort quotes by revolution and then talk about specific revolutionaries and their revolutions.
