Instructional Procedures

Teachers can take the mandatory assignment list along with all the assignments and make a packet out of them that students will hand in a couple of days before the test. This is an easy way for teacher and students to keep track of assignments that need completing. Spend at least one day reviewing information for the test. I find that if I review in a game they will remember better than if I just let them study from notes or study guide. It forces the students that will not study on their own to study.
