Instructional Procedures

Invitation to Learn

Our Family Trip of National Symbols: The teacher will draw a basic road map (using markers) on the tablecloth and write "U.S.A." at the top (ahead of time). The students will help the teacher make a car out of a cardboard box (ahead of time) large enough for a child to stand in and hold up. The students will sit in a circle around the tablecloth while the teacher describes what a tourist is, what U.S.A. stands for, and reads the books The Best Vacation Ever and National Symbols. Pictures of national symbols (that have been glued and laminated onto poster board) will be placed face up on the tablecloth. The students will be asked to pick a picture and hold it face down in front of them until the tourist is at their stop. Each child will be given a turn to go on a trip of national symbols while driving the cardboard car. The car will stop at each symbol, as the teacher talks about the symbol. After a few road trips, some children will be able to tell the tourist about their own symbol.

Instructional Procedures

Our Community Helpers: Teacher Resource Book— Hi, Neighbor—Projects and Activities about our communities. Read the books People Who Keep Us Safe and Picture Me Grown Up. Choose books that represent the community helpers in your area. Use pictures, props, hats, dress up clothes, miniature dolls, etc., to depict these helpers to the students. Who could you have visit your classroom? (Police Officers, Fireman, Hospital Workers, Parents who may want to share, etc.) Where could you go on community field trips? (Post Offices—write and mail letters to self, Fire Stations, Public Libraries, Stores, Restaurants, Parks, Universities, Zoos, etc.) Ask other school personnel for ideas.

Extensions

Possible Extensions and Adaptations

A walk around the neighborhood using observational journals

Assessment Plan

Observe the children and check for understanding.
