

COMPETENCY #5: Understand in-depth a fashion designer or a fashion capital.

CONCEPT: Doing a in-depth study about one or more of the top fashion designers helps students to know the reasons designers design as they do.

LECTURE/DISCUSSION:

For an in depth understanding of fashion designers or capitals, students will be assigned a research report on the area of their own interest. Use the research report assignment forms provided as a guide, add or delete information to meet the needs and resources of your students.

Students may use the provided materials on fashion designers to help them with their reports, or use information available to them through a library or other sources to complete the assignment on the following page. (It is ready for duplication)

NOTE TO TEACHER: The designer information included in this document might be copied and put into separate folders marked with the designers name.

As you come across pictures from magazines or pattern books from a particular designer, clip them out and file in the appropriate folder. This will help illustrate each designer.

When you are beginning your files for this class, copy each report that is turned in and add to your information files.

Posters turned in may be kept to start a class collection of visuals for this unit. (Do this with student permission of course, extra credit works!)
