d. the message, or that they are not adapting to the guidelines that would provide variety and moderation in their diets.