Background for Teachers

The following should be identified before beginning instruction:

- Skills needed by students.

- Amount and kind of resources needed.

- Expectation of classroom teacher regarding content and format of paper.

- Determination of responsibility for instruction and evaluation of all parts of the unit.

- Whenever possible, students should use other core curriculum areas to add to their report.

Instructional Procedures

Choose a topic. Several internet sites are available with Utah History. Check out some of the following resources:

- Gather Information from one of the Internet sites listed above.

- Evaluate information.

- Define unfamiliar words.

- Outline and write article.

Extensions

This lesson can be a support for History and English composition classes. The outstanding Internet sites can bring a high level of interest to the curriculum. Many stories can be used in story telling, skits, plays, or documentaries.
