Background for Teachers

All that you need to know is what you taught to your students initially about presentation, lettering and mounting. Stick to the same guidelines that you used before.

Student Prior Knowledge

Students should have had some type of experience working on presentation boards before this assignment. This assignment should be used in an Interior Design II level class. It is a review of previously learned techniques in an Interior Design I level class.

Intended Learning Outcomes

After completing this lesson, students should have a firm grasp on how to create a professional presentation board using a variety of techniques.

Instructional Procedures

Hand out the assignment sheets to the students and read over the instructions as a class. Show students an example board created specifically for this assignment. Review the different mounts that they can use for their samples and pictures. Review block lettering rules as well. Show students where the interior samples that they can use are located and lay out the mat boards for students to choose from.

Assessment Plan

Refer to the attached assignment sheet for the grading breakdown.
