Prevention Dimensions Overview

Prevention Dimensions (PD) is a set of resource lessons which support the Utah State Office of Education pre-kindergarten through twelfth grade health core and Utah’s Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities. The program began in 1982 as a joint effort between the Utah State Division of Substance Abuse, Utah State Department of Health, Utah State Office of Education, and Utah State PTA. Prevention Dimensions is one of the many dimensions of prevention education used by Utah schools and communities to insure the success of Utah students.

The mission of PD is to give students a strong foundation of effective violence and substance abuse prevention skills. The lessons are age-appropriate and meet the objectives through a scope and sequence methodology.

PD is based on the risk and protective factors prevention model identified through research by Drs. David Hawkins and Richard Catalano of the University of Washington. Studies have shown that young people with identified risk factors are more likely to engage in substance abuse and other antisocial behaviors. Conversely, students with strong protective factors are less likely to engage in substance abuse and antisocial behaviors. Lessons are therefore designed to decrease the risk factors and promote protective factors.

PD teacher trainings develop teacher skills to teach proven prevention strategies, impart knowledge, and help students maintain positive prevention attitude.

Statewide surveys conducted by the Utah Division of Substance Abuse indicate the positive outcomes of the PD skill objectives. The PD Steering Committee uses these surveys to identify effectiveness of strategies utilized in the PD lessons and periodically revises lessons to meet current trends. The continual submission of teacher evaluation data will assist PD in moving to a “best practices” program.

Prevention Dimensions revisions include the 1990 alignment of lessons to better assist teachers in integration of prevention as part of the school day; 1994 inclusion of necessary prevention components based on Botvin’s life skill research and sophistication of secondary lessons; 1996 music component enhancement project; 1996 inclusion of Search Institutes 40 Developmental Assets; 1999 inclusion of media literacy lessons; 2000-2001 State Health Department inclusion of research-based tobacco lessons; 2002 revision of lesson content; 2003 formatting and redesign of lesson appearance: 2010 added 3 C’s [I care for myself. I care for others. I care for the community.] and training on negotiating and mediation skills; 2010 revised lesson format and content.

Young people can overcome the many risk factors in society when they see positive examples, hear clear and consistent messages and practice healthy living. Prevention Dimensions has become a powerful tool for teachers to increase protective factors in students’ lives.
How to use these materials

Prevention Dimensions begins with five foundation lessons that teach core concepts of caring about self, others and the community. These lessons are bracketed in the table of contents and should be taught to students before any other lessons. The first five lessons are aligned between grades to insure common vocabulary and core ideas are taught by the entire school. It is suggested that schools choose specific dates to teach each foundation lesson (lesson 1, lesson 2 etc.).

Teaching the five lessons first will help students –
• identify and express feelings.
• build skills to solve personal trials and the negative feelings often associated with such life events (called bugs or rocks).
• make smart choices about personal health.
• strengthen decision making skills for self and groups.

The remaining lessons may be taught in any order. Notice that all the lessons refer to the concepts in the five foundation lessons. Prevention Dimensions is useful in many issues which arise in the typical classroom including –
• making smart and healthy choices about personal health including abstinence from alcohol tobacco and other drugs
• understanding and expressing thoughts and feelings in constructive and healthy ways
• building positive and constructive connections with others
• personalizing skills to stop unhealthy behaviors and adopting more robust and productive alternatives
• goal setting
• personal safety
• mental health awareness
• violence prevention
• bullying prevention
• working together
• law and order
• ways to resist negative peer pressure
• media literacy
• building family traditions

Prevention Dimensions (PD) is both an effective and efficient classroom tool for teachers to provide a comprehensive behavioral health foundation for students. Prevention Dimension is a gem owned and distributed free of charge to Utah educators by the Utah State Office of Education and should be championed by all who want the best outcomes for student success.
A Short Note About Page Formatting

The left hand part of the page lists lesson parts and teaching processes. The lesson introduction, strategies and conclusion are noted as well as actions that the teacher will use to teach various parts of the lesson.

Conclusion

Words written in light print are ideas and information for the teacher. They give the teacher background information to use with the lesson.

Words written in normal type are for the teacher to voice to the students. These are words the students will hear and questions they will answer.
The 3Cs are central to all the lessons in Prevention Dimensions. You will note a reference to the 3Cs in every lesson and are encouraged to help students understand these concepts.

Formally, Prevention Dimensions used the “3Rs of Respect – Respect self; Respect others; Respect the environment. A review of prevention literature suggested that the concept of respect was often accompanied by a demand. “You will respect me!” Sometimes someone can demand respect and do it with arrogant or demeaning intentions.

Care, according to the literature, is difficult to demand and is more often given. We give care as a choice. It is hard to say, “You will care about me!” and expect to receive more than a cursory feeling of obligation.

Students can and do learn to care about themselves, care about others in their group, and care for the community and environment as a whole.

Please find a larger poster of the 3 Cs on page 108.

• Point out the first statement on the 3Cs poster (see page 98 “I have a right to care about myself.”)
• Today we will be exploring how to be builders by treating one another with caring and compassion.
• We will be thinking about ways we might be breakers by hurting one another’s feelings, and how we can instead be builders and make sure everyone in the class feels safe.

Stand up

• If I care about myself, how will I speak to others?
• How will I encourage others to speak to me?
• If I care about myself, will my words invite fighting or friendship?
• What word makes the difference in those statements?

2. Talking Like a Builder Using “I” Messages

Have students share their reactions to the following statements:
• “You always forget to put the art supplies away!”
• “I feel annoyed when the art supplies don’t get put away every single day.”
• “You always get the ball at recess time!”
• “I feel frustrated when I don’t get a turn to play with the ball very often.”

Read the statements again, emphasizing the words “you” and “I.” Have the students stand up if the words would invite a fight and sit down if the words would invite a friendship.

Tie in the 3 Cs

I care about myself.
I care about others
I care about community.

• I have the right to care about myself.
• I have the responsibility to make smart choices when I care about myself.

Talking Points

• “You” messages are like a big finger pointing and poking at another person.
• Almost everybody tries to defend themselves from the poking, pointing finger. “You always forget . . .” “You are lazy,” etc.
• This is the way a breaker speaks.
• With “I” messages, you can get what you need by being strong but not mean. That is called being “assertive.”
• Identify your feelings about a problem instead of attacking the other person.
• This technique makes the listener feel more willing to try to solve the problem.
• This is the way builders speak.
• Use this little rhyme to remember how to use an “I” message.
  “You” versus “I.” Look inside!

Students Compare

“I feel frustrated when our classroom is a mess because the art supplies don’t get put away.”

“You always forget to put the art supplies away.”

Create Together

Create “I” messages together using the sample scenarios. This could also be a partner activity using the cut apart strips on page 20. Give a strip to each pair, have them finish the sentence above and take turns sharing with the class.

Sample Scenarios

• You come home and your younger sibling has gotten into your room and broken your iPod.
• A classmate keeps teasing you about your glasses. He or she may not mean to hurt you, but it bothers you anyway.
• A friend of yours wants you to join in making fun of a homeless person.
• Some kids at lunch make fun of the clothes you are wearing.
• A classmate makes fun of a student in a wheelchair.
• You hear that a student you don’t know well is spreading gossip about you that isn’t true.
• A friend of yours is being teased for wearing braces.
• Your parents do not speak English. You find out that someone in your class, who you thought was your friend, makes fun of your parents behind your back.
• Someone on the bus always bullies you to give up your seat for him when he gets on.
• A girl in your class is having a birthday party, and all the girls are invited but you.
• You got in trouble with your teacher for talking when it was really your neighbor who was talking.
• Your friend tells you your t-shirt looks weird.
Lesson 1: “I” Message

4. “Get to Know You” Game

Choose one of these games to play.

Snowball

Pass out a half-sheet of white paper for each student.

- Write two or three unique characteristics about yourself on the paper without writing your name.
- Crumple your paper into a ball and throw in any direction.
- Everyone picks up one ball and tries to find the person the snowball belongs to.
- Ask, “Will the real writer stand up?”

Another alternative for sharing would be for students to sit down after they retrieve a paper snowball and then take turns sharing the information about each other.

MINGL

Pass out MINGL cards and have students mingle and find a classmate who meets the description.

Share

Have students share something positive they learned about their classmates.

Closing

It is so much easier to be a builder when we take time to learn about and enjoy each other.

Home Connection

4. “I” Messages

- Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
- Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
- Send the Home Connection paper home with each student and instruct students to share the information with their families.
Dear Family,

Today I learned that I have the right to care about myself. I care about myself, so I want to use words that invite friendship, not fighting. When I express my feelings with “you” messages, I invite a fight. “You always get the ball at recess time!” When I use “I” messages, I invite friendship. “I feel frustrated when I don’t get a turn to play with the ball very often.”

This week will you encourage me to share an “I” message with you when I am feeling a strong emotion?

Core Curriculum Objectives and Standards

Objectives
Recognize why acceptance of self and others is important for the development of positive attitudes.
Recognize the health implications of alcohol and tobacco use.
Determine how building relationships with helpful people can be beneficial.
Model behaviors that foster healthy interpersonal relationships.
Explain how carelessness, hurrying, anger, and upset feelings may increase the chance of having an accident.

Standards
Standard 1: Improve mental health and manage stress.
Standard 2: Adopt health-promoting and risk-reducing behaviors to prevent substance abuse.
Standard 5: Adopt behaviors to maintain personal health and safety and develop appropriate strategies to resolve conflict.
Lesson 2: Bugs

1. Explore Peace and Conflict

Define
Introduce the word “peace” and explain feelings of peace happen most when people are safe and comfortable with themselves and others.

Hand Action
The hands are clasped both ways, and then they open and separate, assuming the “5” position, palms down. The hands are clasped as a gesture of harmony or peace; the opening signifies quiet or calmness.

Ask
- What does peace feel like?
- What does peace look like?
- What does peace sound like?
- How do you become peaceful?
- Where do you feel peaceful?

Smartboard
Put responses on a Looks Like/Sounds Like/Feels Like double T-chart (see page 28). Listen with your eyes, ears, and heart.

Define
- Introduce the word “conflict” and explain that conflict is a word we use to label things that are not at peace.
- Conflict is an unpleasant or uncomfortable emotion.

Hand Action
Smack your two index fingers together. Think of a jousting tournament where two horse riders with lances come into conflict.

- Conflict is a signal that we need to choose an action that will bring us back to peace.
- We may not be able to change some conflicts around us, but we do have the power to have peace within ourselves.

2. What are your bugs?

Prepare
- Cut out several of the “bug cards” and write one sample conflict idea on each bug.
- The ideas represent conflicts students could solve as a class, with another student, with a teacher, with a parent or with themselves.
- Use “I” messages to write any student examples and substitute for the ones below as long as each dynamic is covered.

Examples
- (Class) I feel scared when I go out to recess because I am sad when others call me names.
- (Class) I feel scared when I go to lunch because I feel ignored.
- (Class) I feel disappointed when I take the soccer ball out for recess and other kids take over my game.
- (Student to student) I feel frustrated when I stand in line like I am supposed to and others butt ahead.
- (Parent) I feel annoyed when my mom makes me take a sandwich for lunch when I wanted a bagel.
- (Teacher) I feel dumb when I am doing math and I don’t understand as well as other kids.
- (Me) I don’t like to wear my yellow shirt. I’d rather wear my blue one.

Volunteer
Tape about six of the bug cards onto the student as you create and tell a story that places the cards into a context.
Jenny woke up this morning and put on her yellow shirt instead of her favorite blue shirt. She doesn't feel as nice in her yellow shirt.

Stick the first labeled bug (wrong shirt) to Jenny.

What “I” statement could Jenny use right now?
“I feel unhappy and grumpy when I wear my yellow shirt.”

Then, when she left for school, she looked inside her lunch and saw that her mother had given her a peanut butter and jelly sandwich instead of a bagel and cream cheese. She hates sandwiches!

Stick another labeled bug (disliked lunch) to Jenny.

What “I” statement could Jenny use right now?
“I feel like my mother doesn't understand me when she gives me sandwiches.”

When Jenny got to school, she stopped to get a drink at the fountain but she got very frustrated when someone in her own class cut in front of her.

Stick another labeled bug (someone cut in front of her) to Jenny.

What “I” statement could Jenny use right now?
“I feel ignored when someone doesn’t see me in line ahead of them and butts in.”

Later, during math, Jenny felt dumb because everyone else around her knew the right answers and Jenny kept getting them wrong.

Stick another labeled bug (felt dumb) to Jenny.

What “I” statement could Jenny use right now?
“I feel dumb when I keep getting the wrong answers.”

Finally, it was time for recess. Jenny had waited all week for her turn with the soccer ball, but she was disappointed because the older kids took over her game.

Stick another labeled bug (didn’t get soccer ball turn) to Jenny.

What “I” statement could Jenny use right now?
“I feel angry when the olders kids hog the ball.”

“How are you feeling right now, Jenny?
Let “Jenny” explain how she is feeling. Encourage her to use “I” messages and coach her if necessary.

Ask

• What “bugs” you?
• How would you feel if there were so many bugs on you?
• What do you think when there are so many bugs stuck on you?
• How do friends act around you when you have so many bugs?
Lesson 2: Bugs

Prepare

Create a “Bug Catcher” bucket using an old ice cream bucket or other closable container. Cut a hole in the lid and snap it onto the bucket. Place the bucket on the desk next to a pile of bug cards.

Tie in the 3 Cs

4. Bug Catching

Ask

Who are some of the helpful people we can go to with our feeling bugs?

- How do you treat others when you feel bugged?
- What things do some people do that bug others?
- What are some hurtful bugs?

Some teachers have students whose parents are deployed or have been deployed with the military. If appropriate, mention that some people who fight in wars often come back with lots of “bugs” on them because of the terrible things they have seen. They sometimes don’t deal with the bugs and try to ignore them. Some people have “bugs” and don’t get them off. They live with them and don’t get rid of them. Some people might react to their bugs by not sleeping or being angry or turning to drugs or alcohol to escape.

I have the right to care about myself.

I have the responsibility to make smart choices when I care about myself.

3. How to Sort the Bugs

Mini-Lesson
- When we feel a bug at school we can decide to ask a Helpful Hero for help – either a friend, the teacher, or the class.
- We will always start with ourselves and ask what we can do to solve the problem.
- Next, we can go to a friend and ask for help.
- Last, we can go to the teacher and ask for help to solve the problem.
- How can you recognize others' bugs?
- How can you act appropriately when others have bugs?

Ask
If it is a bug that the class should solve together, would you like to put it in the Bug Catcher to talk about during class meetings? Explain that the Bug Catcher does not hold real bugs – just feeling bugs that we can help squash together as a class.

Home Connection

Prepare
- Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
- Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
- Send the Home Connection paper home with each student and instruct students to share the information with their families.

5. I Can Help Others With Their Bugs
Dear Family,
Today I learned that I have a right to care about myself. We talked about ways to respond to bugs that don’t involve drugs or alcohol.
I can make smart choices and not use drugs or alcohol because I know how to find peace when things bug me. I learned about how you are one of the best people who can help me when I have a bug that I don’t know how to get rid of.

When you catch me helping someone else get rid of a bug, please remind me to write it down.

I helped someone when he or she was bugged because I...

Talking Points

1. Students Identify With Building Others
Focus the students together by playing the song “Be a Builder.”

- I have a right to be in an environment where I feel safe.
- I have a responsibility to treat others with kindness.
- Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions.

- We will be exploring how to be builders by using mediation skills to treat one another with caring and compassion.
- Throughout the year we’ll be thinking about ways we might be breakers by hurting one another’s feelings, and how we can instead be builders and make sure everyone in the class feels safe.

2. Builders/Breakers and the Conflict Escalator

- What is a put-down?
- What are some examples?
  Breakers are people who use put-downs.

- What is a put-up?
- What are some examples?
  Builders are people who use put-ups, like Helpful Heroes.

When a conflict gets worse, we say it escalates.
Write “just a little upset” at the bottom step and “very angry” at the top step.

- Conflict gets worse step by step.
- It begins when someone says or does something that makes you a little upset.
- You might say something back (now that you’re upset).
- Your comment makes the other person even more upset.
- Both of you are very angry.
- It can feel like taking a ride on an escalator—one once it starts, you’re on your way to the top.
- Understanding better what makes conflict escalate can help you stop the escalator before both of you are very angry.
- In our first lesson we learned about inviting a fight and inviting a friendship.
- Inviting a fight is going _____________ the conflict escalator.
- Inviting a friendship is going ___________________ the conflict escalator.
- Which direction do builders go?
- Which direction do breakers go?
- What does the conflict escalator have to do with our right to be in an environment where we feel safe?
- What does it have to do with our responsibility not to hurt others?

3. Story Illustrating the Conflict Escalator

Draw escalator stairs with four steps on the board.
Copy the Conflict Scenarios Sheet (see page 46).

While Danielle was getting her snack out of the coat closet, her backpack accidentally fell and clunked Giorgio on the head. “Ow!” said Giorgio, rubbing his head. “You should be careful, stupid.”

Danielle felt bad about hitting Giorgio, but she didn’t like being called stupid. It was an accident! “Don’t be such a baby. You shouldn’t get in the way,” said Danielle.

Giorgio felt himself getting really angry. As Danielle bent over to pick up her backpack, Giorgio kicked it into the classroom.

Mr. Avazian, their teacher, came back to the coat closet. “What’s all this shouting about?” he asked. Danielle and Giorgio pointed at each other. “He/she started it!” they both said.

Pass out four of the conflict strips to four different students.

• Read the story one more time,
• Have the students place the appropriate statements from the backpack conflict strips (see page 51) handout on the board, identifying each step where the conflict escalated.

Some teachers use the popular “Zoom Books” by Istvan Banyai to talk about seeing the whole picture.

4. Practicing Put-ups

Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
Send the Home Connection paper home with each student and instruct students to share the information with their families.
5. Cool Comments Can (Make Your Own)

- In our classroom, we want to contribute to a peaceful solution by emphasizing the good things we are doing. Our tool is a “Cool Comments Can.”
- If you see individuals in our classroom who are contributing to our community, then let’s give them a big hand by filling out a Cool Comment form.

Make your own Cool Comment form or have a contest to see who will design the form the class will use.

Every Friday, we’ll open up the can and read about the cool things that have been happening in our community.

6. Slap the Solutions Game

Prepare

Copy and cut out a set of Caring Powers cards (see page 37) and a conflict scenarios sheet (see page 46) for each group of three students.

Instructions

- Divide the class into small groups of three and give each group a set of cards and a scenario sheet.
- One person is the reader and the other two are slappers.
- The reader picks and reads a conflict, and then he/she starts dealing the Peace Tool cards.
- When a slapper sees a solution that he/she could justify, he/she slaps the card and then explains why it will help bring the conflict down the escalator.
- The student takes that solution out of the pile and receives one point.
- If he/she can’t justify the solution, then the other student has a chance to earn the point.
- Emphasize that every situation is different, so different strategies can empower us to solve them.

Wall Posters

Cut out the Caring Powers wall posters and make a bulletin board.

Desk Strips

Cut out the Caring Powers desk strips and give a strip to each student for reference.

Curriculum Connections

For other book ideas, see lesson 12, “Conflict Resolutions,” w
Make a Peace Offering
One person gives a little gift or something that shows he or she wants to solve the conflict.

Say “I’m Sorry”
“Sorry” can mean different things. One reason to say, “I’m sorry” is when you are wrong. It can also be a way of saying, “I feel bad we’re having this conflict.”

Talk It Out
Many conflicts can be solved by just sitting down and talking to each other about the conflict.

Listen to Each Other
People in the conflict need to be willing to listen to each other. Good listening helps each person understand what the other person is thinking and feeling.

Work Together
Sometimes a conflict can be solved by agreeing to work together on a project or idea.

Compromise
If both people give in a little, they compromise.

Share
If people are having a conflict about who gets to use something, there may be a way to use the object at the same time.

Take Turns
One way to share is to decide that one person uses something first and then the other person has a turn.

Put It Off
Sometimes people are too angry to talk it out or to solve the problem. They may need to take a break and work on it later.

Build Trust
Sometimes one person doesn’t believe what the other says. People need to trust each other.

Solve the Problem
Conflicts are problems. If the people solve the problem, then the conflict will be solved.

Skip It
Some conflicts aren’t worth bothering with; just forget about it.

Get Help
Sometimes you can’t come to a solution by yourselves and you need to ask a grown-up or another child to help you.
Make a Peace Offering

One person gives a little gift or something that shows he or she wants to solve the conflict.

Say “I’m Sorry”

“Sorry” can mean different things. One reason to say, “I’m sorry” is when you are wrong. It can also be a way of saying, “I feel bad we’re having this conflict.”
Talk It Out

Many conflicts can be solved by just sitting down and talking to each other about the conflict.

Listen to Each Other

People in the conflict need to be willing to listen to each other. Good listening helps each person understand what the other person is thinking and feeling.
Work Together

Sometimes a conflict can be solved by agreeing to work together on a project or idea.

Compromise

If both people give in a little, they compromise.
Share

If people are having a conflict about who gets to use something, there may be a way to use the object at the same time.

Take Turns

One way to share is to decide that one person uses something first and then the other.
Put It Off

Sometimes people are too angry to talk it out or to solve the problem. They may need to take a break and work on it later.

Solve the Problem

Conflicts are problems. If the people solve the problem, then the conflict will be solved.
Build Trust

Sometimes one person doesn’t believe what the other says. People need to trust each other.

Skip It

Some conflicts aren’t worth bothering with; just forget about it.

Dear Family,

Today I learned that I have a right to be in an environment where I feel safe. I have a responsibility to treat others with kindness.

Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions. When I help others feel safe, I am building them up or giving them a put-up. This thumbs-up sign tells me what I do is building others up. Each time you hear me give a put-up, please remind me to cross off a thumb.

Thank you!
Conexión en el Hogar

DQuerida familia,
Hoy aprendí que te tengo el derecho de vivir en un ambiente en donde me sienta seguro (a). Yo tengo la responsabilidad de tratar a otros con amabilidad.

Violencia es la intención que tengas de dañar el cuerpo de alguien con palabras, miradas, signos, actos, sentimentos o posesiones. Cuando yo ayudo a otros a sentirse seguros, los estoy animando o los estoy haciendo sentirse bien. Este símbolo de dedos hacia arriba me dice cuando estoy animando a otros. Cada vez que tú me oigas animando a otros, por favor recuerdame que te quiero cruzar uno de esos signos.

While Danielle was getting her snack out of the coat closet, her backpack accidentally fell and clunked Giorgio on the head. “Ow!” said Giorgio, rubbing his head. “You should be careful,” said Giorgio, rubbing his head. “Don’t be such a baby. You shouldn’t get in the way,” said Danielle.

Mr. Avazian, their teacher, came back to the coat closet. “What’s all this shouting about?” he asked. Danielle and Giorgio pointed at each other. “He/she started it!” they both said.

Danielle felt bad about hitting Giorgio, but she didn’t like being called stupid. “Don’t be such a baby. You shouldn’t get in the way,” said Danielle.

Giorgio felt himself getting really angry. As Danielle bent over to pick up her backpack, Giorgio kicked it into the classroom. Her backpack was getting cold.

Mr. Avazian, their teacher, asked, “What’s all this shouting about? He/she started it?” and Giorgio pointed at each other. “He/she started it!” he asked. Danielle came back to the coat closet.

“Way,” said Danielle. “You shouldn’t get in the way, baby. You shouldn’t be such a accidently called stupid. It was an accident, but she didn’t like it. Danielle felt bad about hitting Giorgio, but she didn’t like being called stupid. It was an accident!”

Lesson 4: Making Smart Choices for Me: I STOP'D

1. Game Simulation of Conflict

Dice game – gather five bags with 3-4 dice in each.

Game Simulation

- Arrange students into groups of 3-5.
- Pass out the dice bags and tell students to play a game.
- Do not give many rules, or tell them who is in charge of the game.
- Let them try playing.
- Observe closely what students are saying, writing down their positive and negative comments on the board or a paper.
- Gather the class to discuss.

Ask

- Did you all know the rules?
- Did you all agree on the rules?
- Was it easy to start playing?
- What were the problems that your group faced?
- Why did you have the problems?

- Tell them the positive things you heard them say as well as the negative things.
- How did these positive and negative comments affect the group working together to play?

Optional

Give students some other kind of game or activity and deliberately remove an important piece of the game. Observe how they handle the problem.

2. I STOP’D PowerPoint and Scenarios

Present the PowerPoint presentation, I STOP’D furnished with this lesson.

Note: When the presentation is opened in PowerPoint Normal Mode, notice the accompanying notes. Please do not read these notes to students. There is basic information and more advanced information accompanying each slide. The teacher may choose the depth of training that is appropriate for the students. Use your own voice and examples when using the presentation.

3. I STOP’D Practice

Use the I STOP’D formula to solve a problem.

Emphasize

Remember, with practice, most problems can be solved in minutes.

4. I STOP’D Practice

- Make a copy of the Home Connection and the I STOP’D word strip poster (see page 58) for each student.
- Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
- Send the Home Connection paper home and I STOP’D poster home with each student and instruct students to share the information with their families.
Ask:
- Have you ever played a game at home or school and watched a small disagreement turn into a big fight?
- What do you think made it happen?
- Have you ever found yourself caught in the middle when other people couldn’t agree?
- How did you feel?
- What did you do or say?

Talking Points:
- The funny word I STOP’D helps us remember how we can make a decision.
- It is an acronym. Each letter in the word stands for the first letter of another word. It is a tool people use to help them remember something important like what to do when we STOP and THINK!
- Some other acronyms are: PTA and NASA.

Reference:
The book Getting to Yes emphasizes four elements of decision making in the context of mediation and negotiation. They are incorporated into the acronym I STOP’D in their original form:
1. Separate the people from the problem.
2. Focus on interests, not positions.
3. Invent options for mutual gain.
4. Insist on using objective criteria.
Subsequent references will appear as (Fisher, page number).

The book Creating the Peaceable School: A Comprehensive Program for Teaching Conflict Resolution, has taken the principles in Getting to Yes and transformed them into a complete year-long school curriculum that addresses each element of the Prevention Dimensions acronym I STOP’D in exhaustive detail. Please refer to this publication for comprehensive lessons. This PowerPoint is meant to be an overview. Subsequent references will appear as (Bodine, page number).

Talking Points:
- Let’s look at each letter briefly at first so you can see the big picture.
- Then we’ll read a story and see how the characters apply the I STOP’D process to their conflict.

Read briefly; you’ll go into depth later.

Talking Points:
- “Decide and do” would make sense too.
- You’ll see why those words are in that order.
Ask:
Why is it important to use your power to choose?

Talking Point:
A new study in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology found that leaders often were not the smartest people in their groups; they were just the ones that had the most ideas. 94% of the time other group members went with the first idea, even if it was incorrect.

Reference:

Ask:
- What do you remember about the Chill Drill?
- Why do you think it is important to take a break before you make an important decision?
- What do you think it means to separate the people from the problem?
- We can be kind to people but firm about wanting to solve the problem (Fisher, 17-39).

Optional:
Remind students of the song “Chill” by playing a few seconds of it.

When we use our large cheek muscles to make a smile, we send a signal to our brain to release chemicals that help us relax and handle stress.

Reference:

Talking Points:
- In 1943, a man named Abraham Maslow introduced the idea that we all have basic needs in order to be able to grow.
- Many times, conflict occurs because those needs are not met.
- Our basic psychological needs (as opposed to our physical needs like food and sleep) are belonging, power, freedom, and fun.
- The needs we have that are not being met we identify as our interests. Those unmet needs are what we are “interested” in fulfilling.
- Focusing on interests instead of positions helps us find a joint solution to our problem much faster.

Ask:
Which sounds better? Telling your parents “I am interested in having fun tonight, what do you think about the movies?” or “I need to have fun tonight so I have to go to the movies and you must take me” (Fisher, 40-55).

Reference:

Ask:
- Who are some of the wise people in your life you feel you can go to if you have a problem?
- What do you think it means to think win-win?
- Why is it important think about the pros and cons?

Advanced Discussion:
- The chapter, “Invent Options for Mutual Gain” goes into depth on how to brainstorm in any setting (Fisher, 56-80).
- Wise people “insist on using objective criteria” when they make decisions.
- For example, school rules, consumer reports, the law, or looking what other people have done and whether it has worked for them. (Fisher, 81-94).

Ask:
- How well do plans work for a lot of people when only one person picked the plan?
- Have you ever been forced to go along with a plan that you didn’t help make?
- How did you feel?
- When is it OK just to make my own plan for me?
- When should we include another person in the plan?
- When do we make plans together as a group?
- When is it OK or even necessary for there to be one plan that one person makes for everyone?
  (In an emergency.)
Ask:
- Does it feel good?
- Is something not quite right?
- Is what I am doing not working?
- Are there consequences I didn’t think about?
- Should I try a different option?

Story Application:
- Use an illustrated story from the literature suggestions or one of the following PowerPoint scenarios to illustrate a conflict.
- Apply the I STOP’D process with the students to the conflict. Be sure to keep the first person perspective. The students are practicing their own decision making, not helping others make decisions yet.

Other Ideas:
- Give each group of five an I STOP’D card with one of the steps written on it (see lesson resources).
- Have students take turns describing their steps according to this story and discussing within the group their ideas of how to resolve the conflict.
- Have members pass their cards to the left and practice solving another problem.
- You could also do this as a class and have only those students holding a certain card allowed to answer your questions for that step.

Congratulations! You now know how to use the I STOP’D process!

Conclusion:
- Now get out a piece of paper and quickly write I STOP’D down the left-hand side.
- Let’s see how much of the process you can remember.
- In 30 seconds we will switch papers and see if you can fill in what your neighbor has left blank.

This could be a quick follow-up anytime on any day of the year.

Bill of Rights

Easily integrated into 3rd grade social studies section

1. Constitution – Rights and Responsibilities

As you begin this activity, you may want to integrate it with a discussion of the U.S. Constitution.

- Rights – guaranteed conditions
- Responsibilities – things you are always expected to do; a way you are expected to act or treat someone else
- Rules – the purpose of rules is to (a) let everyone know his or her responsibilities and (b) to safeguard the rights of all

- I have a right to be in an environment where I feel safe.
- I have a responsibility to treat others with kindness.
- Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions.

Your Community Bill of Rights may include:

- To be myself.
- To want to do well at school.
- To have my own opinions and interests.
- To say “No” to other students if I don’t want to be involved.
- To have strengths and weaknesses.
- To have likes and dislikes.
- To feel safe.
- To be respected.
- To be free from name calling.
- To be free from unkind teasing.
- To be free from bullying.
- To live without fear of injury or threats.
- To seek adult support if I feel unsafe.

Optional

You may wish to include rights that pertain to teachers and visitors to the classroom. Post the rights on the wall.

Strategies

2. Classroom Rules or Responsibilities

Talking Points

- To keep rights safe, we usually need to make rules.
- Rules remind us of our responsibilities.
- Rules and responsibilities are the same thing.

Ask

- What rules have you heard of or experienced in a home, on sports team, etc.?
- Why do these rules exist?
- What would happen if people didn’t follow these rules?
- Do you have any personal rules that come before other people’s rules?

  If you were allergic to cheese, you might not finish all the food on your plate at a friend’s house.

I care about myself.
I care about you.
I care about my community.

Review the 3 Cs you have covered in the last five lessons.

Care for Myself
• I have a right to care about myself.
• I have a responsibility to make smart choices when I care about myself.
• Substance abuse is an act of violence against oneself.

Care for Others
• I have a right to be in an environment where I feel safe.
• I have a responsibility to treat others with kindness.
• Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions.

Care for my Community
• I have a right to live in a beautiful and peaceful community.
• I have a responsibility to contribute to the beauty and peace of my community.
• Breaking, writing, or leaving garbage on other’s property is an act of violence against the environment and community.

Brainstorm
Develop a list of rules/responsibilities for your community.
For example:
• Listen when others are talking to you.
• Give and accept instruction kindly.
• Use peaceful language and actions.
• Obey the rules of the place where you are.

Display
Display the list in a prominent place along with your Community Bill of Rights.

3. The Class Meeting and Group Mediation PowerPoint

Prepare
• Teach Lesson 2 where you establish a class backpack for class problems to solve in a class meeting.
• If students have not used this opportunity, then place some of your own concerns in the pack so one will be available to mediate during the class meeting.

PowerPoint (Available in ppt and pptx Formats)
Follow the notes in the We STOP’D PowerPoint to solve a class problem.
The PowerPoint slides are printed for view beginning on page 70 of this lesson.

Note: When the presentation is opened in PowerPoint Normal Mode, notice the accompanying notes. Please do not read these notes to students. There is basic information and more advanced information accompanying each slide. You may choose the depth of training that is appropriate for the students. Use your own voice and examples when using the presentation.

4. We STOP’D Practice

Prepare
• Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
• Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
• Send the Home Connection paper home with each student and instruct students to share the information with their families.

5. The Eyes Above the No’s

Half sheet of paper for each student.

Introduce the song, “Children of Many Colors” from the CD Be a Builder.

- Give each student a half sheet of paper.
- Have them draw a large eye that fills the page.
- Teach them to include detail.
- Have them color it to match their own eye color.
- Create a class pictograph with the eye colors for display.
- Discuss the similarities and differences.

Ask

What if we treated each other differently just because of the color of our eyes?

- For the rest of the day, have the “eye color of the hour.”
- Rotate which children will be “favored” in the classroom based on what color their eyes are.
- Discuss the children’s experiences after everyone has had a turn being the favorite.

6. Skin Color Changes Depending on the Amount of Pigment

Cocoa flavoring and three glasses of milk.

Prepare

Talking Points

- Is anyone’s skin in the room actually white like milk?
- The only people who have white skin are people who are albinos.
- Albinos have no melanin or pigment in their skin.
- All other people have varying amounts of melanin and are varying degrees of brown.
- The amount of melanin a person has depends on where his or her original ancestors came from.

Object Lesson

- Have a volunteer put varying amounts of cocoa flavoring into the milk and notice the varying shades of brown that are created.
- The cocoa is like melanin; the more melanin you have, the darker your skin.

Ask

What if we treated each other differently just because of the color of our skin?

Tie in the 3 Cs

- I have a right to be in an environment where I feel safe.
- I have a responsibility to treat others with kindness.
- Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions.
7. Changing Colors

- Draw a large magnifying glass on a fairly heavy sheet of tag board (the frame should be about eight inches in diameter).
- Cut out the center of the magnifying glass and attach red, blue, green, or yellow cellophane to the frame.

- Ask two good friends to come to the front of the class.
- Have one child describe how he/she feels about the other child. Why is he/she a good friend? What is he/she like?

- Give this same child the magnifying glass and have him/her look at his/her friend again.
- Have the student describe how his/her friend has changed. He/she should say that his/her friend has changed colors.

- Has the new color changed your feelings about your friend?
- Should the color of a person’s skin, hair, eyes, or clothes influence how we feel about them?
- How do you really get to know whether you like someone or not?

Dear Family,

Today I learned that I have the right to live in a beautiful and peaceful community. I have a responsibility to contribute to the beauty and peace of my community. Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions.

By participating in regular class meetings, we will help our class community stay peaceful. Our family is a community too. Having a family meeting to deal with our conflicts might help our family stay peaceful too. Here are the parts of a class/family meeting. Please help me practice what I have learned. Lesson 5: Making Smart Choices for Us: We STOP'D

- We can use the same process to solve problems as a group.
- What different kinds of groups do you belong to that sometimes have conflicts? (sports teams, friends, recess games, family).

3 Cs – Help students understand and state clearly:
- I have a right to be in an environment where I feel safe.
- I have a responsibility to treat others with kindness.
- Violence is intent, by words, looks, signs, or acts, to hurt someone else’s body, feelings, or possessions.

Ask:
Who remembers what each of these letters stand for?

Read briefly; you’ll go into depth later.

Ask:
- If something isn’t working in the group you are in and you decide not to do anything about it, what might happen?
- How does making smart choices as a group give everyone power?
- Do you remember the study on leadership?

A new study in the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology found that leaders often were not the smartest people in their groups, they were just the ones that had the most ideas.

94% of the time other group members went with the first idea, even if it was incorrect.

Ask:
- Who is involved in the conflict?
- When a person’s needs or interests are not being met, they often create conflict in the group. This conflict stops the progress or purpose of the group. (Johnny needs to feel power on the playground, so he hogs the ball, keeping others from enjoying the group game. The team can’t fulfill its purpose of winning because other members can’t contribute.)

Discuss:
- Communication means how we talk to each other while solving a problem. How we communicate can either be a huge boulder that keeps us from solving the problem, or it can make the process go faster.
- Using “you” messages creates a boulder.

Ask:
- What do you think I mean by a “you” message? What is a statement that starts with “you”? (You always get to choose… You never have to take your turn doing the dishes… You think you are…)
- On the other hand, what do you think an “I” message is? (I feel frustrated when I haven’t had a turn to choose the movie for awhile. I feel misunderstood when I am blamed for talking and I wasn’t…)

Discuss:
- One of the most important “I” messages we can use encourages us to talk about what our basic needs or interests are. It is “I am interested in…"
- This helps everyone understand what is important to you in the solution.
Lesson 5: Making Smart Choices for Us: We STOP'D

Ask:
• What often happens if there is a conflict in a group? (People start getting angry; everyone’s basic needs aren’t being met; the group breaks up even if they don’t want to; conflict keeps the group from meeting the purpose it was formed to meet, such as a team winning basketball games, friends having fun, a class learning).
• What would happen if the group had a way of stopping and chilling? (The group could know how to immediately resolve conflict and therefore continue to meet its purpose).
• In what ways could a group agree to stop and chill every so often? (class meeting, family meeting, group time-out to make a decision, etc.)

Ask:
• Who are some of the wise people in your life you feel you can go to if you have a problem? (This could be a neutral third party such as a rule book, law book, people or teams you want to be like, etc.)

Ask:
• Does it feel good?
• Is something not quite right?
• Is what I am doing not working?
• Are there consequences I didn’t think about?
• Should I try a different option?

Use a conflict from the class backpack in lesson 3, “The Conflict Escalator,” to mediate through the steps. For example: Some students continue to talk during reading time, so the whole class gets in trouble…

Congratulations!
You now know how to use the I STOP’D process!

Conclusion:
• Now get out a piece of paper and quickly write We STOP’D down the left hand side.
• Let’s see how much of the process you can remember.
• In 30 seconds, we will switch papers and see if you can fill in what your neighbor has left blank.

This could be a quick follow-up anytime or any day of the year.
This is an interesting study about how groups solve problems and how individuals in the group are perceived as offering solutions to problems.

“...The volunteers, competing for $400 in teams of four, set to work solving computational problems taken from the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT). Before the work began, the team members informed the researchers – but not one another – of their real-world math scores on the SAT.

“When the work was finished, the people who spoke up more were again rated as leaders and were likelier to be rated as math whizzes too. What's more, any speaking up at all seemed to do. People earned recognition for being the first to call out an answer, and also for being second or third.

“...But when Anderson and Kilduff checked the teams' work, a lot of pretenders were exposed. Often, the ones who were rated the highest were not the ones who gave the most correct answers. Nor were they the ones whose SAT scores suggested they'd even be able to. What they did do was offer the most answers – period.

“'Even though they were not more competent,' says Anderson, 'dominant individuals behaved as if they were.' And the team members fell for it: fully 94% of the time, they used the first answer anyone shouted out.”

Core Curriculum Objectives and Standards

Objectives
- Understand that everyone experiences a variety of feelings.
- Identify the different feelings they experience and learn to model appropriate behaviors.
- Model behaviors that foster healthy interpersonal relationships.

Standards
- Learn ways to improve mental health and manage stress.
1. The ABC Emotion Cards.
• Introduce the ABC Emotion Cards.
• Use one or more cards each day and discuss the emotion identified on the card.
• Discuss times when the teacher or the students have experienced the emotion.
• Some days, have a student draw or select a card and pantomime (act out) the emotion for the other students to identify.

• We all have emotions and feelings.
• Feelings are neither good nor bad.
• Anger and jealousy are strong feelings that everyone experiences occasionally and are not bad if handled appropriately.
• Our reactions to our feelings can help or harm us. For example, when we become angry, it is not acceptable to hurt someone’s feelings or to physically harm them but it is okay to feel angry.

2. Our Many Different Feelings
• How would you feel if everyone in class laughed at you when you made a mistake?
• A “you” message might sound like, “You better not laugh at me or I’ll ...”
  How would you express that feeling with an “I” message?
  I feel _____ when I make a mistake and everyone laughs at me.

• How would you feel if you were ignored and left out of a game?
• How could you express that in an “I” message?
• How would you feel if someone said something good about you?
• How could you express that in an “I” message?
• How would you feel if someone tried to persuade you to do something you really did not want to do?
• How could you use an “I” message to be assertive and tell that person you don’t want to do what they are asking?
  When you ask me to ____ after I’ve told you I don’t want to ____ , I feel _______.

3. My Many Faces
• Distribute the worksheet “My Many Faces.”
• Use open-ended questions (not questions that can be answered in one word) and discuss the responses on the worksheet.
• Something that often frustrates me is ...
• When I’m angry, sometimes it helps to ...
• Sometimes I worry about ...
• Some things that make me happy are ...

4. “I’ll Be Nice”
• Sing “I’ll Be Nice” together.
• Use I STOP’D and discuss ways students can manage strong emotions.
• What options do you have to express feeling happy? sad? angry?
• Stop and think. What can you do when you are frustrated? sad? nervous?

5. “My Many Faces”
• Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
• Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
• Send the Home Connection paper home with each student and instruct students to share the information with their families.
My Many Faces

Using the circles below, draw a face showing the emotion that you usually feel in each of the given situations. The last circle is left blank for you to label.

When I play with my friends.

When I take a test.

When I take my report card home.

When my friends say I can’t play with them.

Most of the time, I feel...

Sometimes, I feel...
Dear Family,

We learned today about feelings and how I express my feelings. Using the circles below, help me draw a face showing the emotion that you see me usually express in various situations. (The first three are sample situations.)

Help me draw some other faces for situations that occur during the week. Please help me express me feelings in a healthy and constructive way.

- Why do you like being yourself?
- When do you not like being yourself?

2. Identify five good friends.

4. Your Own Best Friend
- Not putting bugs on ourselves.
- Use self-talk to make positive, hopeful statements to yourself, not negative bugs.
- Don’t give yourself put-downs (give examples).
- If you forget and give a put-down, change it to positive self-talk right away.
- Remind yourself of your strengths (things you do well).
- You don’t have to be perfect, because everyone makes mistakes.
- You are “one of a kind,” so don’t compare yourself to others.
- Knowing one’s own strengths is not bragging

5. Identify Personal Strengths
Each student lists as few of his or her own personal strengths on the personal quilt graphic of the Home Connection page.

6. Personal Quilt
- Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
- Send the “Home Connection” paper home to discuss with the family, adding strengths identified by family members.
- Many teachers combine the returned home connectons together to form a classroom paper or muslin quilt.

Strategies

Discussion

2. Similarities and Differences
   - How are people the same?
   - How are people different?

Read and Discuss

3. Hurt and Sad
   What we say to others can affect how they think and feel.
   Read and discuss the book, Why Are You so Mean to Me?
   - What happened in the story?
   - What kinds of statements are builder statements and made Grover feel happy?
   - What kinds of statements were breaker statements and made Grover feel sad?
   - What caused Grover to use a breaker statement and say a mean thing to Big Bird?
   - How was Big Bird a builder?
   - When was Oscar a builder?
   - How do these kinds of comments affect people in our class?
   - What do some students say that might hurt others?
   - How can a boy or girl be a builder and help when someone is sad?

Object Lesson

- Using a tube of toothpaste, push out the paste onto a piece of paper.
- The toothpaste represents mean things that might be said about another person.
- Ask a student to put the toothpaste back into the tube.
- Ask the student to say “Just kidding,” while he or she tries to put the toothpaste into the tube.

Discuss

- What was hard about trying to put the toothpaste back into the tube?
- Does saying words like “Just kidding,” help?
- How are mean words like this toothpaste of the paper?
- How easy is it to “take back” mean words?
- Does pretending to joke make mean words any less hurtful?
- Words once spoken cannot be taken back.

Object Lesson

4. Negative Words Hurt
   - Display a “Me Heart” graphic.
   - Say negative words.
   - Cut or tear off a piece of the heart every time a mean word is spoken.
   - Replace the torn “Me Heart” with another whole copy.
   - Change the mean words to positive statements and don’t tear the paper.
   - Point out that positive words do not create negative and destructive feelings.

Activity

- Each student writes his or her name on the back of a “Me” worksheet.
- Pass the “ME” worksheet around the room
- Individual students write positive comments to the owner of the worksheet and then pass it along to the next student.
- Before returning the “Me” worksheet to their owners, the teacher may wish to review the completed worksheets to insure only positive comments were written on the squares.

Mount a large piece of butcher paper (6 by 8 feet) on a wall. Tell the students that for the next two weeks you want them to keep an eye open for class members doing positive, constructive, kind, and courteous things at school or on the way to and from school. On the butcher paper, have students write the name and comment about the person who was observed doing a positive and helpful thing. Some teachers use sticky notes rather than writing on the butcher paper.

Take time at the end of the day to fill and discuss the “I Saw Someone Doing Something Good” chart. Talk about the positive and good things people have observed. Discuss how people feel when good things are said and written about them, instead of negative things.

While it seems to be a common practice in society to focus on negative behavior, encourage students to continually seek out positive things that others do and offer positive feedback. Look for ways people are builders.

Emphasize that it is important to like oneself. One good way to accomplish this is by being kind to others.

I Saw Someone Do Something Good

| John was a good sport at soccer today. | Megan cheered me up when no one wanted to play with me. |

7030-0102 Recognize why acceptance of self and others is important for the development of positive attitudes.
Discuss skills necessary in solving a mystery.
- Before we can solve a mystery, we must gather evidence about the situation and be able to answer the “5 Ws” (Who, What When, Where and Why).
- We may also add “How.”
- What does the word “evidence” mean?
  Evidence is the data on which a conclusion or judgement may be based.
- Read the first paragraph of a newspaper article and determine if the reporter used the 5 Ws to start the report.
- The “5 Ws” questions help to understand and examine a situation more clearly.

2. 3 Cs of Caring
- What are the 3Cs of Caring?
  Display the poster
- We use the 5 Ws (and how) to help us understand why it is important to care about ourselves and others and how to show that caring.
- What kinds of questions can we ask that use the 5 Ws that will help us understand why it is important to care about ourselves and others.
  - Who do we care about?
  - What kinds of things do we do that show we care and respect ourselves and others?
  - When can we show we care about and respect others and the world around us?
  - Where is care and respect appropriate?
  - How do we show we care about ourselves? other? community?
  - What is the community?
- Just like solving a mystery, answering these questions can begin to help us understand why it is important to care about and respect others.

3. “To See or Not to See?”
- Introduce Observation Chart: “To See or Not to See?”
- Tie in the mystery idea of strategy 1.
- Students list in the “Who or What” column people or things they see being cared about.
- Complete the chart and answer the questions about the examples.

4. General Classroom Rules of Care
Discuss the “To See or Not to See” chart and create general classroom rules about caring about self, others, the community and the environment.

5. Care and Respect in the Media
- Ask students to find articles and stories in newspapers and magazines about people who are builders and caring for themselves, others or the community.
- Report on the media representations of care and respect.
- Create a classroom collage of care.

- What would happen if Matthew and Tilly used the I STOP’D process?

Draw
- Draw an escalator on the board and explain that when a conflict gets worse, it escalates.
- If a conflict is resolved it de-escalates.
- Using the escalator drawing, identify the initial conflict in Matthew and Tilly. (Matthew broke Tilly’s crayon.)

Tilly: “You’re stupid, stinky and mean.”
Matthew: “It was old. It was ready to break.”
Tilly: “You broke my crayon.”
Matthew broke Tilly’s crayon.
Both go off alone.

3. Things That Send Us Up the Conflict Escalator

What did Matthew and Tilly say to each other that made their conflict get worse?
Write each incident that made the conflict escalate on the steps going up.
4. Caring Powers

- What are some caring ways we can solve conflicts without hurting someone else?

  Display the “Caring Powers” poster or other graphics from lesson 3.

- How can we use these ideas in resolving conflict?

  Role-play a situation and use a solution from the “Caring Powers” poster.

5. Reinforce I STOP’D

- Review the I STOP’D decision making model (see lesson 4).

- Sing “Chill” together as a class and practice the “Chill Drill.”

Optional Activity

Pow-Wow Rug

Set up a carpet sample in your classroom and ask students to sit at either end while they are using this model. The teacher may want to sit in the middle to help with the process the first few times. Label the “Pow-Wow Rug” and post clearly the I’STOP’D rules. “Pow-Wow Rug” may be used independently by students to solve conflicts.

Optional Books

For other book ideas, please see lesson 3, Builder Breaker, page 38.
Caring Powers

Make a Peace Offering: One person gives a little gift or something that shows he or she wants to solve the conflict.

Say “I’m Sorry”: “Sorry” can mean different things. One reason to say, “I’m sorry” is when you are wrong. It can also be a way of saying, “I feel bad we’re having this conflict.”

Talk It Out: Many conflicts can be solved by just sitting down and talking to each other about the conflict.

Listen to Each Other: People in the conflict need to be willing to listen to each other. Good listening helps each person understand what the other person is thinking and feeling.

Work Together: Sometimes a conflict can be solved by agreeing to work together on a project or idea.

Compromise: If both people give in a little, they compromise.

Share: If people are having a conflict about who gets to use something, there may be a way to use the object at the same time.

Take Turns: One way to share is to decide that one person uses something first and then the other person has a turn.

Put It Off: Sometimes people are too angry to talk it out or to solve the problem. They may need to take a break and work on it later.

Build Trust: Sometimes one person doesn’t believe what the other says. People need to trust each other.

Solve the Problem: Conflicts are problems. If the people solve the problem, then the conflict will be solved.

Skip It: Some conflicts aren’t worth bothering with; just forget about it.

Get Help: Sometimes you can’t come to a solution by yourselves and you need to ask a grown-up or another child to help you.

Lesson 13: Control or No Control

Introduction
Discuss things around us that we cannot control

- We cannot control the processes of nature such as weather, earthquakes, tornadoes, floods, etc.
- We cannot control some other things such as inherited personal traits, behaviors of other people, etc.

2. Things I Can Control
Discuss things around us that we can control

- A person can control things in his or her life like what he or she wears, says, or eats.
- A person can control when he or she takes a bath, brushes teeth, buckles seat belts, etc.

Strategies

- Teach the song: “Buckle Up
- While the music is playing, play the game “Car and Driver.”
  Divide into pairs. One person is the car and the other is the driver.
  The “car” closes his or her eyes; holds up his or her hands in front of them to simulate bumpers and prepares to be guided around the classroom by the “driver.”
  The driver stands behind the car and gently steers them around the classroom, avoiding other drivers and obstacles.

- A less-active role-play is to arrange chairs as if groups of students were riding in a car.
  Students buckle-up and take a ride while the music is playing.
  The driver gets to determine the conditions of the car and road and responds as if the road is bumpy, smooth, swerves, or is straight. The car might slow down, speed up or turn a corner.
  Passengers in the car mimic the driver's actions.
  Switch drivers and let others determine the car and road conditions.

4. “Control/No Control” worksheet

- Distribute the “Control/No Control” worksheet.
- Have students stop and think about personal traits over which they have no control and write those traits in the “I Have No Control Over” column of the worksheet.
  Natural hair color
  Bone structure
  Type of complexion
  Color of eyes

- Have students stop and think about some personal traits over which they have control and write those traits in the “I Have Control Over” column of the worksheet.
  Regular exercise
  Diet
  Tobacco and alcohol use
  Hobbies and activities
  Study time
  Seat belt use

- Review worksheet and discuss student responses.

Conclusion

5. Lesson Review

- Putting our energy into things we can control, especially when those things help us be safe and feel good about ourselves.
- Worrying about things we cannot control causes stress.

4. “Hooked on Commercials”

Core Curriculum Objectives and Standards
Objectives
- Identify advertising techniques.
- Develop skills to analyze advertisements.

Standards
7030-0702 Describe the influence of media on making healthy choices.
1. What Did You Purchase?
   - Ask two volunteers to have a competition to see who can do the best job of selling an object in the room to the class.
   - Who did the best job?
   - What did that person do to make the object sound desirable?
   - Think of a product you’ve purchased or asked your parents to purchase because of a commercial you’ve seen (e.g., breakfast cereal, game, toy, etc.).
   - What claims were made by the product advertisement?
   - How did the advertising promises compare to the actual product performance?

2. Advertising Techniques
   - Talk about the advertising and persuasion techniques described on “Hooks or Persuasion Techniques Used in Advertising.”
   - Show magazine advertisement samples and decide what techniques are used in the sample.

3. You Are the Advertiser
   - As a class, make a list of problems or needs and list them on the board.
   - Divide the class into small groups.
   - Each group will use the list on the board and create a product to solve that need. The group will also design an advertisement for the product using one of the persuasion techniques.
   - Groups will present their products and advertisements to the class.

   • Which advertisement entices you to purchase the product?
   • What parts of the advertisement drew your interest?
   • What other kinds of techniques were used in the advertisement?
   • How were the techniques used to make the product look its best?
   • Sometimes we don’t take the time to stop and think but let other people tell us what to think, what to eat, what to wear, what is cool and what music to listen to.
   • If we know what to look for in a commercial, we can stop and think and make a more informed decision.

4. Hooked on Commercials
   - Make a copy of the Home Connection for each student.
   - Take a short amount of class time to explain the home assignment.
   - Send the Home Connection paper home with each student, along with the “Hooks or Persuasion Techniques Used in Advertising” resource sheet and instruct students share the information with their families.
Hooks or Persuasion Techniques Used in Advertising

Straight Sell: This appeal is very businesslike. The advertisement tells what the product is, how much it costs, and where it can be purchased.

Bargain: Advertisers using this appeal stress low prices. Everyone likes to get a good buy, but consumers should question why a price has been reduced.

Bandwagon: This appeal claims that everyone is buying the product.

Snob: Advertisements using this appeal show the popular people buying this (usually expensive) product.

Endorsement: This appeal uses a well-known person or group to help sell the product. This appeal personalizes the ad and is a good attention-getter. Consumers need to weigh the endorser’s expertise and question their own desire to imitate the endorser.

Details and Statistics: This appeal is often used for products that are technical and/or expensive.

Emotion: This appeal stresses feelings like love, sympathy, and fear that are often used to motivate consumers.

Public Concern: This appeal is used when a company needs or wants to build a positive image. It makes the company look like a good citizen.

Humor: This is an effective appeal because consumers relax and become more receptive to the advertiser’s message. Puns and catchy slogans are variations.
Dear family,

Today we learned about some techniques advertisers use to motivate us to buy their products.

Help me practice being aware of these techniques by allowing me to watch one hour of T.V. and recording the commercials I see. Help me complete each column for each advertisement noting the time of day the advertisement was presented, what product is being advertised and what persuasion techniques or “hooks” were used. Some commercials may contain more than one technique.

Thanks

Ayúdame a practicar al estar alerta de estas prácticas, al permitirme ver una hora de televisión y gravar los comerciales que vea. Introduction

Discussion

1. Poison and Pollution
   - What does the word “poison” mean?
   - What does the word “pollution” mean?

   The following bullets will assist you in this discussion.
   - Poisoning or polluting the body makes people less able to be healthy or do tasks effectively and efficiently.
   - Drinking alcohol pollutes and poisons the body so it cannot balance itself. (Refer to the impairment game of whirling around in a circle and not being able to stand straight.)
   - The brain is poisoned and unable to function properly when some things such as glue or gasoline are misused. (Refer to the impairment game of trying to read through glasses covered with petroleum jelly.)
   - Some things might be legal to use by adults but pollute growing bodies.
   - Just because something is reachable does not mean it is safe.
   - Smelling or breathing poison and pollution can create disease in the body. (Refer to the impairment game of trying to breathe through a small straw while exercising).
   - Some things, like gasoline, are safe when used as directed but poisonous if misused.
   - When the body is poisoned or polluted, it can become impaired, meaning it cannot properly function.

Strategies

2. Impairment Games

   Play the following games with the class.
   - Reading with petroleum jelly on glasses.
   - Wearing large gloves and threading a needle.
   - Talking and drinking at the same time.
   - Exercise while breathing through a straw.

   These games, and many others, are explained more fully in Tom Jackson’s Activities That Teach and are used with permission.

Discussion

Discuss the following questions:
   - Stop and Think. How can various products that we touch, breathe, eat, smell or taste become a poison or pollutant?
   - How can poisons and pollutants impair the body?
   - Do all poisons and pollutants effect all people the same way?
   - What things can become a poison or pollutant to you?
   - How do we keep from becoming a victim of a poison or pollutant?
   - How can you help others not be overcome by poisons or pollutants?

Game

3. “I’ve Decided Game”

   - Cut out the “I’ve Decided” game cards and provide one set of cards and a game board to each small group of students.
   - Each group puts their cards into a draw pile.
   - Start at the beginning of the path that is next to PD.
   - Select a card from the draw pile and follow the directions on the card.
   - Place the card into the discard pile. When the draw pile is depleted, shuffle the discard pile and make it the new draw pile.
   - The first player to the end wins the game.

Core Curriculum Objectives and Standards
Objectives
Recognize what they can do to feel the pleasure of a natural high.

Standards
7030-0302 Model behaviors that foster healthy interpersonal relationships.
1. Describe good feelings.
   • Think of a time when you felt good because you accomplished something hard, won a race or game, or did something enjoyable.
   • What kinds of things were you thinking about?
   • What are the words and phrases that you use to describe those good feelings?
     List the words on the board.

2. Natural Highs And Unnatural Highs.
   • These good feelings are called “natural highs.”
   • When you receive a natural high, your body actually secretes special chemicals called “endorphins” that affect the pleasure center of your brain.
   • You get these feelings without taking any drugs or taking anything unnatural into your body.
   • Natural highs have no negative physical consequences.
   • Sometimes, people who are bugged try to feel good by using unnatural highs such as feelings caused by drugs.
   • Unnatural highs can impair judgement and ruin your health.
   • Unnatural highs can create more bugs that can make us feel stressed or out of control.

3. “Scoot, Scat, Groove.”
   • Teach song: “Scoot, Scat, Groove.”
   • Let children move around to the beat of the music and point out that it feels good to exercise, dance, etc.
   • Think of other ways to feel good without taking anything unnatural into your body.
   • Instruct students to choose an activity in which they’ve experienced a natural high.
   • Write another verse to “Scoot, Scat, Groove” using the chosen experience.
   • Allow students time to perform their new verse.

4. Natural High Mural
   • Emphasize the importance of looking for natural highs when feeling low.
   • Title a chart or mural “50 Ways to Feel Good Naturally.”
   • Have students complete and display the mural by listing 50 different ideas for natural highs.

Core Curriculum Objectives and Standards

Objectives
Practice refusal skills to make positive choices when identifying situations regarding health and safety.

Standards
7030-0101 Demonstrate responsibility for self and actions.
1. “Take a Stand”
   - Sing the song “Take a Stand.”
   - Use the 5 Ws (see lesson 10) and review the importance of making wise choices.

2. Making Choices
   - Imagine a picture that is out of focus.
   - When we make foolish choices, our lives are out of focus like the picture.
   - When we make smart choices, our lives become more focused.
   - What are some positive choices that we make?
     - Get enough sleep.
     - Eat breakfast before school.
     - Listen for work directions.
     - Stop at the crosswalk and look both ways.
     - Eat healthy snacks.

   - Sometimes people want us to do things we know are foolish choices,
   - When that happens, the choices become harder to make and life gets cloudy and out of focus. We get bugged. What are some of the things that might bug us and make life difficult?
   - How can those things make our life out-of-focus?
     - Dangerous things make our heart start to beat a little faster, or we get worried about what our friends might think.
     - We know it isn’t right, but we don’t know what to do.

   - What are some things you can do when life is difficult?
   - Decide now what you will do when someone wants you to make a foolish choice.

3. The Refusal Skills and ISTOP’D
   Using the chart “Step by Step™,” introduce refusal skills that will help students “take a stand,” avoid danger and keep the bugs away.

   Step by Step™
   1. Ask questions. (Stop!)
      (e.g., “What....?” “Why.....?”)
   2. Name the trouble. (Think!)
      (“That's....”)
   3. Identify the consequences. (Think!)
      (“If I do that.....”)
   4. Suggest an alternative. (Select options!)
      (“Instead, why don’t we....”)
   5. Move it, sell it, and leave the door open. (Do it!)
      (“If you change your mind......”)

4. Role-play refusal skills.
   Use these scenarios to role-play the refusal skill steps about making good choices.
   - Your friend steals a candy bar and wants you to steal one also.
   - Your sister finds a cigarette on the ground and tries to get you to light it and put it in your mouth.
   - Your friends want to raid the refrigerator and steal some of the beer inside.
   - Your best friend says he won’t speak to you ever again if you don’t steal money from your mom’s purse.
Tie in the 3 Cs

- I have the right to care about myself.
- I have the responsibility to make smart choices when I care about myself.

- I have a right to live in a healthy and peaceful place.

Conexión en el Hogar

Querida familia,
Hoy, aprendí algunas habilidades que me permiten tomar una decisión y rechazar cosas que no son saludables o que me pueden causar un problema. Por favor ayúdame a rechazar éstas habilidades.

Ayúdame a revisar esto que he aprendido al cruzar un mamut cada vez que yo use cada una de éstas habilidades..

Las habilidades son

1. Hacer preuntas (¿qué? ¿Porqué?)
2. Nombrar el problema (Esto…)
3. Identificar las consecuencias (Si hago eso…)
4. Sugerir una alternativa (En lugar de eso, porque no mejor nosotros…)
5. Cambiarlo, venderlo y dejar la puerta abierta (Si tu cambias tu forma de pensar…)

Refusal Skills

1. Ask questions. (e.g., “What...?” “Why...?”) “Why do you want me to go there?”

2. Name the trouble. (“That’s...”) “That’s called stealing.”

3. Identify the consequences. (“If I do that...”) “If I do that, my mom will be mad.”

4. Suggest an alternative. (“Instead why don’t we...”) “Instead why don’t we jump on my trampoline.”

5. Move it, sell it, and leave the door open. (“If you change your mind...”) “If you change your mind, please come on over.”
Teacher’s Guide to the Refusal Skills

Step #1
Ask questions. (“What ....?” “Why....?”)
• Use the troubles from the list to model Step #1 with a student assistant and illustrate asking questions.
• Once you’ve “discovered the trouble,” indicate the end of the role play by saying, “That’s trouble.”
• Emphasize that the person using the skill asks questions only until there is evidence of trouble. Continue this discussion, modeling, and role playing as long as necessary.

Step #2
Name the trouble. (“That’s . . .”)
• Explain that using legal terms like “vandalism,” “assault,” or “possession” often makes people think more seriously about the trouble. You may want to explore the definitions of some legal names with students.
• Tell students that many troubles don’t have legal terms, like making fun of someone or not telling parents where they are after school.
• Explain that people using “Refusal Skills” can always say: “That’s trouble,” “That’s wrong,” or “That’s mean,” etc.

Step #3
State the consequences. (“If I do that . . .”)
• Explain to students that troubles have different kinds of consequences (legal, school, family, health, and personal consequences, both for themselves and for others), and then briefly discuss them.
• Say that consequences may be different for each person.

Step #4
Suggest an alternative. (“Instead why don’t we . . .”)
• Take a few minutes, and list 12 activities that won’t have legal consequences or bring on trouble.
• Students can share some of their thoughts with the class.
• The smart choice would be to choose activities that will not bring trouble.
• Point out that suggesting an alternative lets the “troublemaker” know that the person using the skill is rejecting the activity, not the troublemaker.
• Point out also that alternatives work better if they’re specific to the situation. Add that they don’t have to be more exciting than the friend’s idea, but can be simple, like “going for a walk” or “sitting and talking.”
• Tell students that it’s good to have several alternative activities in mind that could relate to a variety of situations.
• Have students brainstorm some of these general alternatives.

Step #5: Move it, sell it, and leave the door open.
(“If you change your mind . . .”)
• Point out that moving away from the situation helps the person using the skill to stay out of trouble and it also lets the friend know that the person is serious.
• Moving away from a foolish choice and towards a smart choice shows others you are in control.
• Explain different ways of selling alternatives—making the alternative sound fun or challenging, mentioning other people who will be involved, and emphasizing the importance of the friendship.
• If students have trouble understanding the concept of “selling” an alternative, try to use other words to describe it (e.g., “persuading someone or talking someone into” going along with the alternative).
• Say that friends don’t always have to agree on everything and that sometimes students will just have to leave the situation, and then leave the door open for the other person to reconsider. Emphasize that students “leave the door open” only if, after selling their idea, they get a response from their friends that indicates their friends won’t be going with them.

• Point out to students that the purpose of leaving the door open is for them to let their friends know that they still want to be friends and do things together.

• Set the stage for students. For example, “Let’s say that your friend wants you to go down to the store and help steal some sneakers. You’ve told your friend that it’s wrong, and if you do that, you might get into trouble with the police as well as your family.” Now you want to suggest an alternative.

• Don’t pressure

• Continue to model the skill. You may want to “think out loud” so students can hear the thought process behind the steps, or “ask for help” from different students so that you get an idea of how well they’re understanding the skills.

• Practice with a few students as the class watches.

• You can cue key phrases, and your assistant can portray the “troublemaker.”

Review all the steps and remember the following points when practicing Steps #4 and #5:

• Remind students that their alternatives should be specific, but they can be simple.

• Include situations in which students don’t have to “leave the door open,” because the troublemaker agrees to their alternative.

• Discourage students from omitting selling their alternative and jumping to the next step.

• Don’t pressure students, and don’t let them pressure each other.

Consider the following options as cues for “sell it”:

• Ask students for their alternative selling technique before beginning the role play, and cue key phrases to that information.

• Freeze the role play and help the student think of selling techniques.
A Little Bit of Honey

Isn’t it funny how a little bit of honey
Makes every day worth while
A little bit of kindness
Making up your mind
Just to give a little smile
If someone’s unhappy
quick and make it snappy
Ask if they need help
’Cause a little bit of honey
Can make a day so sunny
You’ll feel good about yourself
(Repeat)

They call me a builder
’Cause I don’t tear anybody down
I like to be a builder
Don’t wanna see anybody frown
I like to make people feel better
Whenever I am around
(Chorus)
I like to shake someone’s hand
Help them understand they’re special
And that’s my style
I’m part of a team to build self-esteem
So I go the extra mile
Cause I’m a builder
Constructin’ somethin’ worthwhile

I won’t tear anybody down
I’m a builder
I won’t see anybody frown
I wanna make people feel better
Whenever I am around

With every labor

Children of Many Colors

From the CD Be a Builder
Music and Lyrics by Steve James
Native American Chant by Steve James and Mitch Hall,
© 1999, BMI
Performed by Lisa and Steve James

(Verse 1)
From the ocean
Cross the desert
To the mountain high
Live our people
Hear our voices rising to the sky
(Chorus)
We are the children of many colors
And ever since our birth
We’ve been sisters
We’ve been brothers
And we live on mother earth
(Verse 2)
Sun of daylight
Moon of midnight
Guard our mother’s land
We together must protect her
Every grain of sand
(Repeat Chorus)
(Chant)
We move in the rhythm of the circle of life
And listen to earth’s song
We dance to nature’s heartbeat
And keep our mother strong
(Bridge)
We all share the water we drink
The food we eat
The air we breathe
We all share the sky above
The river below
The land we love
(Chorus Repeats)
(Chorus – Can be sung in a round)
You gotta chill
Take a deep breath and say
Everything’s gonna be alright
Things are gonna be okay
(Bridge)
If you’re feelin’ pressure
And life is gettin’ you down
There’s a little somethin’
To turn it all around
Clear the Air

From the CD Take a Stand
Music by Steve James, Lyrics by Clay Aquin and Steve James © 2000 Steve James Productions, BMI
Performed by Jared Young (vocal) and Clay Aquin (rap)
Arranged by John Hancock

(Chorus)
Be smart, don’t start
Everybody breathe freely everywhere
Be smart, don’t start
Clear the air (repeat)

(Verse)
There’s somethin’ I wanna say to you
About a problem I see people goin’ through
So listen to what I have to say
You never know, it just might save your life one day

(Pre-chorus)
Some people think they’re tough when
You see them puffin’
But I don’t think it’s cool
Don’t want to hear them wheezin’
When there’s no reason
Do you wanna hear my rule?

(Chorus)

(Rap)
Be strong, don’t smoke, here’s my song
And if you follow what I’m sayin’ sing along
About that little white stick that isn’t cool
Make your lungs turn black, it’s true
You see I’m true to my statement when I say,
“Don’t start”
Not good for the body or that little ol’ heart
So if you see a friend take it from his hand
Be a friend, not a fan, take a stand
Thinkin’ about the bond that everyone will share
Once we all come together just to clear the air
You want to talk like this… say no
You want to cough like this… say no
I often think to myself how would it be
If everywhere in the world were smoke-free
Some say secondhand is worse than the first
Would you rather hear it from a doctor or a nurse?
Smoking’s bad, yep it will make you sick
Did I mention a hard habit to kick
So just remember four words and do your part
All together now,
Be smart, don’t start

(Chorus)

So listen to what I have to say
You never know, it just might save your life one day

(Pre-chorus)

(Chorus)
Do

From the CD Be a Builder
Music and Lyrics by Steve James
© 1997 BMI
Performed by Moana Wolfgramm Feinga, Elizabeth Wolfgramm Atuaia, and Jennifer Wolfgramm Tupuola

(Verse 1)
All around the world I see
So many places
So many faces
People just like you and me
So many voices
So many choices
If I could change the world
I’d sing
(Chorus 1)
We gotta be kind
We gotta be free
We gotta reach out to someone in need
If we could just love
If we could be true
And do as you’d have others do to you
Do as you’d have them do
(Verse 2)
And though we’re different
We’re the same
We need each other
Why hurt another
Hearts are cryin’
And who’s to blame
If someone’s hurtin’
Let’s lift the burden
And if I could change the world
I’d sing
(Chorus 2)
We gotta be kind (to each other)
We gotta be free (as any other)
We gotta reach out to someone in need
If we could just love (love another)
If we could be true (true to our brother)
And do as you’d have others do to you
Do as you’d have them do
We can make a difference
In every life we see
If everyone would do the same
Think how it would be
(Chorus 2 repeats)
Don’t Laugh At Me

Traditional
Performed by Steve Seskin/Allen Shamblin

(Verse 1)
I’m a little boy with glasses
   The one they call a geek
A little girl who never smiles
   ‘Cause I have braces on my teeth
And I know how it feels to cry myself to sleep
I’m that kid on every playground
   Who’s always chosen last
A single teenage mother
   Tryin’ to overcome my past
You don’t have to be my friend
   But is it too much to ask

(Chorus)
Don’t laugh at me
Don’t call me names
Don’t get your pleasure from my pain
In God’s eyes we’re all the same
Someday we’ll all have perfect wings
Don’t laugh at me

(Verse 2)
I’m the beggar on the corner
You’ve passed me on the street
And I wouldn’t be out here beggin’
   If I had enough to eat
And don’t think I don’t notice
   That our eyes never meet

(Chorus)

I’m fat, I’m thin, I’m short, I’m tall
I’m deaf, I’m blind, hey, aren’t we all

(Chorus)
Don’t Laugh At Me

Rap Version
Written by Allen Shamblin and Steve Seskin for
Sony/ATV Tunes/David Aaron Music/Built On Rock Music
Additional Rap Lyrics: Jonathan Gutierrez, aka Baby Jay
and Hector Chavera III for Roland Jovan Music (BMI)

(Verse 1)
I’m the one they’re laughing at because I got glasses on I’m getting called a geek; don’t show my teeth, cause I got braces on
I know how it feels to have to cry myself to sleep
What can I do? I guess I’ll just sit here and weep
Is it just me or do the others see flaws in my appearance?
It’s clear to see they always find something to laugh and stare at
Or is it cause I’m last left to get chosen next round?
Day after day I’m just the playground’s clown
As wrong as it is, the truth is you choose who you want to mess with You’re running me down, but stand in my shoes for a second, (uhh-uhh!)
Whether it’s too much to ask, it’s on you to listen or pass me up
Don’t have to be my friend, all I ask is that you don’t laugh and stuff
(Chorus)
Don’t laugh at me
Don’t call me names
Don’t get your pleasure from my pain
In God’s eyes we’re all the same
Someday we’ll all have perfect wings
Don’t laugh at me

(Pre-Hook)

Even if I’m fat, thin, deaf, blind, short or tall,
Well aren’t we all? (Well aren’t we all)
So if I’m fat, thin, deaf, blind, short, or tall,
Then aren’t we all? (Then aren’t we all)
And since we are, don’t laugh or call me names, or Get your pleasure from my pain, in His eyes we’re all the same
Someday we’ll all have perfect wings
(Chorus)

Hot to Not

From the CD Take a Stand
Music by Steve James
Lyrics by Steve and Lisa James
© 2000 BMI
Performed by Lisa James
Narrative: Stacia Price and Lisa James
Arranged by Todd Sorensen

(Verse 1)
I think I feel a chill is in the air
I look around at people everywhere
Some do things they’re not supposed to do
Some come face to face with me and you

(Pre-chorus)
And if they ask you to do something wrong
Just look them eye to eye
And tell them you’ll never ever go along

(Chorus)
Turn around and tell them to get lost
That kind of consequence is never worth the cost, yeah
Life is short so give it all you got
And when you make decisions know it’s hot to Hot to not

(Verse 2)
If you find you’re sitting on the fence
You don’t know what to do, then think in future tense
It’s your choice, completely up to you
Whatever lies ahead depends on what you do

(Pre-chorus)
So if they ask you to do something wrong
Just look them eye to eye
And tell them you’ll never ever go along

(Chorus)
(Repeat Verse 1)

It Takes Love

From the CD Be a Builder
Music and Lyrics by Steve James,
© 1999, BMI
Performed by Moana Wolfgramm Feinga

(Verse 1)
I’ve come to know that
Giving’s worth the sacrifice
If I can take away
Another’s pain
Or at least give them a moment of happiness
’Cause if I give I’ll never live in vain

(Verse 2)
If I could only keep the lonely company
No matter the condition in their life
Or if I could dry some tears and help a child see
That hope is real and life is worth the fight

(Chorus)
It takes love to fill an empty heart
It takes everyone to do their part
Help each other rise above
Any problem
It takes love

(Verse 3)
Another day another opportunity
To make the time and offer any help
And I learn that when I make a difference
I can see
By serving others I can find myself

(Verse 1)
Some people say we’re different
I don’t think it’s so
We have so much in common
Everyone should know
We’re not that different after all

(Verse 2)
We each tell our own story
Come from other lands
So many ways of speaking
Still we understand
We’re not that different after all

(Chorus)
We have one heart that beats the same
We hear each other’s cries
Let’s speak kind words to everyone
And see the good within their eyes
We’re not that different after all
We’re not that different after all

(Repeat Verse 1)
(Chorus)
