Good Morning,

Sometime today, this group of people will engage in an activity using some paper cups. Your mission, should you accept, is to secretly support what they are trying to do. Make certain you encourage everyone to do it, always being positive on the point of being obnoxious -- BUT you will not try it yourself..

As usual, if you are discovered, we will disavow any knowledge of your operation.

Good Morning,

Sometime today, this group of people will engage in an activity using some paper cups. Your mission, should you accept, is to demand that the team do it your way. You can get mad, throw a tantrum, get angry....whatever. Just get them to do it your way. As usual, if you are discovered, we will disavow any knowledge of your operation.

Good Morning,

Sometime today, this group of people will engage in an activity using some paper cups. Your mission, should you accept, is to be a negotiator. You will tell everyone they can all build this tower. It will work out best if we all consider everyone's ideas. You will do whatever you can to see that everyone is happy, happy, happy.

As usual, if you are discovered, we will disavow any knowledge of your operation.

Sometime today, this group of people will engage in an activity using some paper cups. Your mission, should you accept, is to avoid getting it done. You can try procrastinating, engage in continual planning with no action, letting everyone else get their ideas out first, go to the restroom, take a break...
