9 Great Shows on 9

WATCHERS OF THE NORTH

Saturdays at 7:30 p.m. beginning November 1

This new series is an action-packed six part documentary series following the training, patrols and search and rescue missions of Canadian Rangers in two Nunavut communities. And who are the Canadian Rangers? The Canadian Rangers are a volunteer reserve branch within the Canadian Forces. Their job? They act as a military presence in the North, and in remote and sparsely populated parts of Canada. Canadian Ranger patrols are made up of Inuit, Metis, First Nations and non-Aboriginal men and women, depending on the region. You'll find them conducting surveillance and sovereignty patrols in the North and acting as guides, scouts, and experts when Regular Forces need wilderness and Arctic survival skills. They are also trained in basic First Aid and Search and Rescue skills, and often act as a first responders and search teams before other help arrive!

BEYOND GEEK

Mondays at 9 p.m. beginning November 3

This new series explores people that are pushing the limits of science, technology, and everything geek. But this isn't your ordinary science and technology show - it's about people who take geek to a whole new level. Each half-hour episode of "Beyond Geek" will delve into fringe ideas that might seem a little odd and sometimes quite a bit "out there." From a group trying to get to space in a balloon to people who dress up as superheroes to fight crime, our hosts dive deep into these amazing stories by joining in the adventure, and taking you on a truly unique ride of how and why these people do what they do. By the end of the episode, you'll learn just how cool those strange ideas are and understand why a word that used to be an insult is now the ultimate form of compliment.

for programs about innovative work, lifestyles and communities.
