

The

Lazy

Boy

There was a boy in a farm up in the mountain, One day he's dad told him to take the cows and the sheeps to the mountain so they can eat grass.

But, he didn't want to take the sheep and the caws to the mountain but he had to, so he took them to the mountain then sat under a tree and fell asleep.

He was dreaming about eating food. Then when he woke up, the animals were nowhere to be seen!

He looked around the mountain but he didn't see the animals, So he went home crying then he Realized that being lazy is not a good thing.

Written By: Hasib Mohammadi

Illustrated By: Benazir Mohammadi

About the Author:

Hasib is a student at Utah International Charter School. Originally from Takhar, Afghanistan. Hasib is 13 years old and loves English. He loves playing soccer and in his free time he likes to watch movies.

About the Illustrator:

Benazir Mohammadi is a student at UICS, she likes fashion and wants to become a model when she's done with school, but she also likes listening to music and playing Volleyball.